Grace Afful

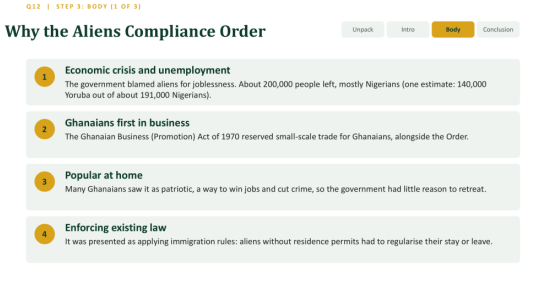

Selected Educational Content Work

Educational media portfolio

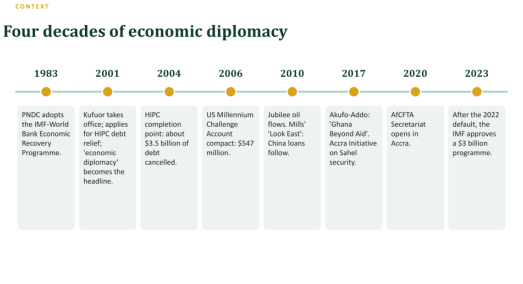

This short portfolio presents selected examples from three collaborative instructional decks developed for Kwadwo Fosu Inspires under POLI 446: Ghana's Foreign Policy. Grace Afful's role included research-based slide development, content review for clarity and accuracy, and video editing for publication.

NLC Foreign Policy

Busia & Acheampong

Economic Diplomacy

Scope of contribution

- Slide development: structuring dense course content into readable, exam-focused visuals.
- Content review: checking flow, wording, internal consistency and clarity for students.
- Video editing: preparing the recorded lesson for coherent publication on YouTube.

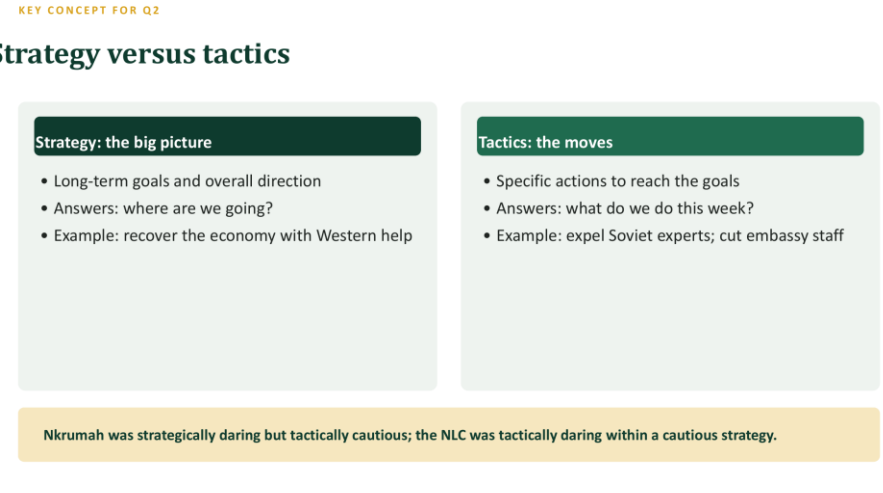

Credit statement

Educational materials developed collaboratively for Kwadwo Fosu Inspires. Edmund Kwadwo Fosu serves as channel lead and presenter. Grace Afful supports research-based slide development, content review and video editing.

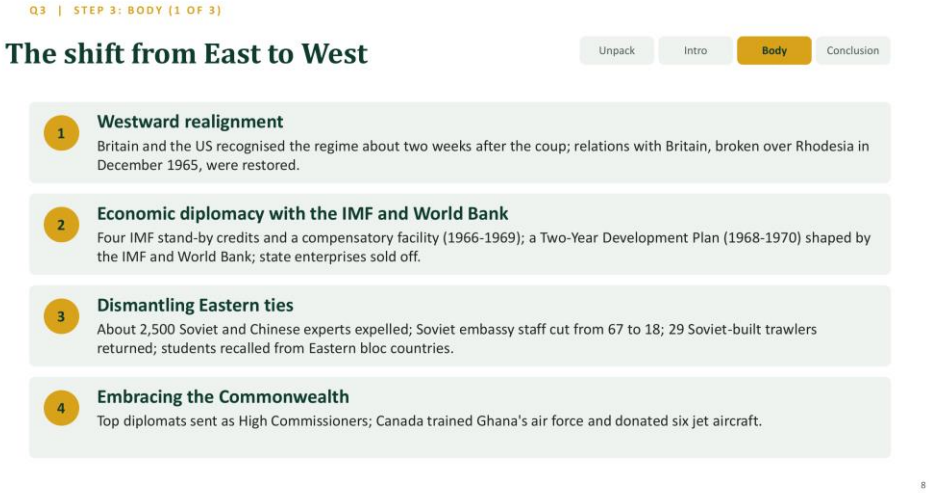

Channel: https://www.youtube.com/@kwadwofosuinspires

POLI 446 - Session 4 Selected slides

NLC Foreign Policy (1966-1969)

Slide 1: Strategy versus tactics

Slide 2: The shift from East to West

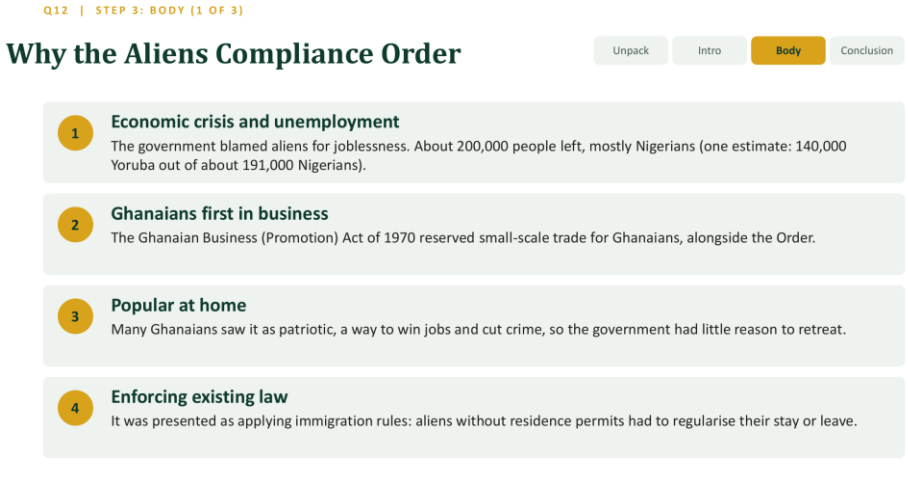

Why these examples matter

These slides show concise concept explanation and historical synthesis. Together, they turn abstract foreign-policy analysis into a clear distinction between long-term direction, short-term action and ideological realignment.

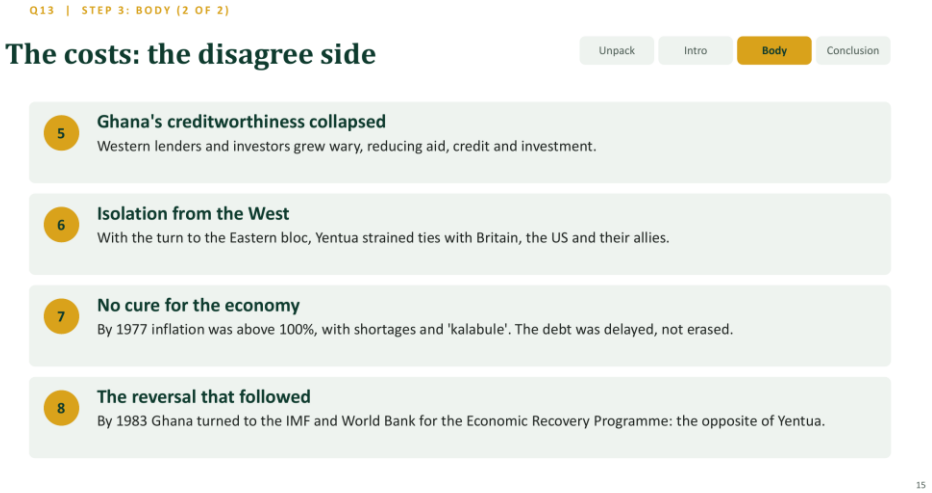

Corresponding YouTube video: https://youtu.be/pnDsaupwHZA

POLI 446 - Session 5 Selected slides

Busia and Acheampong (1969-1978)

Slide 1: Why the Aliens Compliance Order

Slide 2: The costs: the disagree side

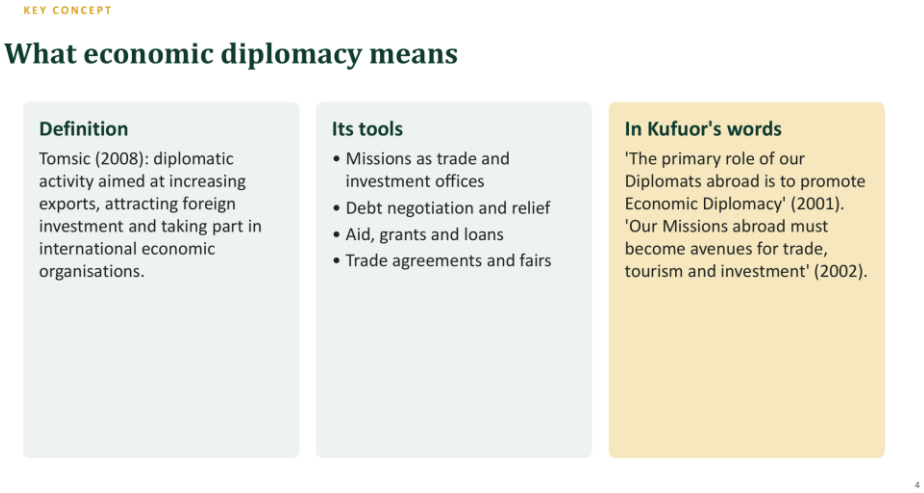

Why these examples matter

These examples show how evidence is sequenced for students. First, causes are broken into manageable points; second, counter-arguments and policy costs are made explicit. This supports balanced reasoning and exam preparation.

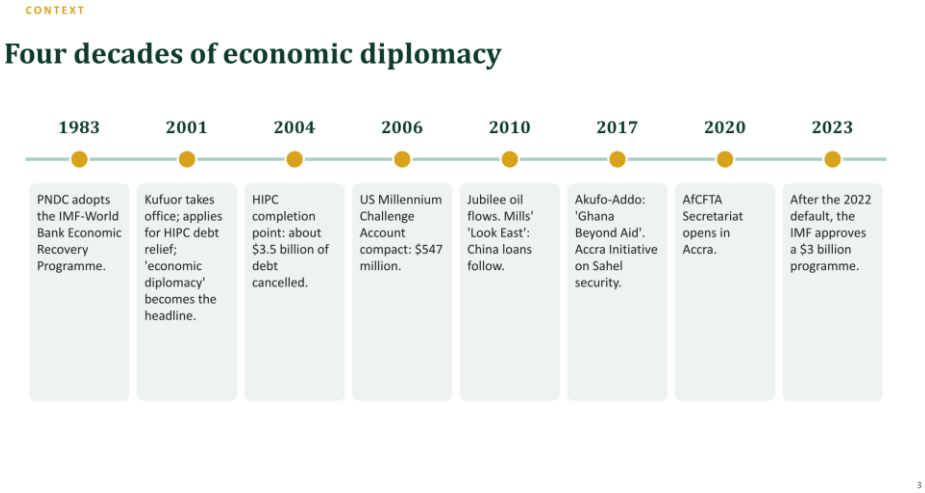

Corresponding YouTube video: https://youtu.be/pnDsaupwHZA

POLI 446 - Session 6 Selected slides

Economic Diplomacy

Slide 1: What economic diplomacy means

Slide 2: Four decades of economic diplomacy

Why these examples matter

These slides demonstrate definition building and timeline design. The first clarifies a key concept with tools and quotations; the second compresses several decades of policy development into a visual sequence that students can quickly follow.

Corresponding YouTube video: https://youtu.be/pnDsaupwHZA

How the work is developed

A streamlined collaborative workflow from research to publication

1. Research and planning
   Review the topic, learning goals and examination focus; identify the evidence, concepts and examples that need to be taught.
2. Slide development
   Turn dense political-science material into structured visuals, timelines, comparisons and step-by-step answer frameworks.
3. Content review
   Check wording, flow, examples and internal consistency; revise the deck so the material is clear, accurate and usable for students.
4. Video editing and publication
   Edit the recorded lesson for continuity and pacing, then prepare the finished educational content for YouTube publication.

Note on student-business advertisements

Some original teaching decks include product images and advertisements supplied by students to support their businesses. Those community-support inserts are separate from the instructional content and are not treated here as examples of Grace Afful's educational design work.

Collaborative credit

Educational materials developed collaboratively for Kwadwo Fosu Inspires. Edmund Kwadwo Fosu serves as channel lead and presenter. Grace Afful supports research-based slide development, content review and video editing.

Series video: https://youtu.be/pnDsaupwHZA